FirstCare Health Plans bases utilization management (UM) decisions on reasonable medical evidence and consensus of relevant health care professionals. Clinical decisions about each request for service are based on the clinical features of the individual case (such as age, co-existing medical conditions, complications, progress of treatment, psychological and social factors, the home environment, where applicable, and consideration of services available from the local health care system) and the medical necessity criteria.

FirstCare uses medical necessity criteria to help determine the appropriateness of the care or service. FirstCare approved criteria include, but are not limited to:

- MCG Ambulatory Care, Inpatient Surgical Care, General Recovery Care, and Behavioral Health Care.
- Texas Department of Insurance coverage guidelines
- Texas Medicaid Provider Procedures Manual
- Medicare National and Local Coverage Determination Guidelines
- Hayes Medical Technology Directory, News Service and Core Clinical Research Support
- Hayes Medical Technology Brief Service
- Hayes Genetic Test Evaluation Service
- Medical Technology Advisory Committee (MTAC) Clinical Guidelines
- FirstCare health plan benefits and coverage guidelines
- Pharmacy and Therapeutics Committee coverage criteria
- Peer Literature Review

FirstCare is sensitive to the risks of underutilization of care and service which include inappropriate or delayed treatment, preventable contraction of disease, extended duration and/or worsening of symptoms, undetected progression of disease, misdiagnosis, impaired quality of life, permanent loss of function and preventable death. For this reason, FirstCare distributes an affirmative statement to all of its practitioners, providers, members, and utilization management employees regarding its incentives for the purpose of encouraging appropriate utilization and discouraging underutilization.

FirstCare does not specifically reward physicians/practitioners or other individuals conducting utilization review for issuing denials of coverage. UM decision making is based only on the appropriateness of care and service, and the existence of coverage under the member's insurance plan. Financial incentives for UM decision makers do not encourage decisions that result in underutilization - e.g. FirstCare does not use incentives to encourage barriers to care. FirstCare does not make decisions regarding hiring, promoting or terminating its practitioners or other individuals conducting utilization review based upon the likelihood or perceived likelihood that the individual will support or tend to support the denial of benefits.

Affirmative Statement about Incentives

Several factors can delay or even prevent the authorization of care of services. These include late referrals, referrals to out-of-network practitioners/providers and incomplete clinical data. FirstCare appreciates your efforts to work with your providers to avoid these pitfalls so that our UM team can process your care authorizations quickly and accurately.

FirstCare maintains an online electronic authorization request portal and an incoming fax line available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year dedicated to receiving incoming authorization requests. FirstCare also maintains a voice mailbox to receive requests for authorizations 24/7 outside of regular business hours.
